1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Plaintiffs and Court-appointed Class Representatives Ian Green (“Green”) and the Cardella
3 Family Irrevoc Trust U/A 06/17/15 (“Cardella Family Trust,” and together with Green, “Class
4 Representatives”) respectfully submit this memorandum in support of their motion for final approval
5 of the settlement of this class action on the terms set forth in the Stipulation of Settlement dated 6 January 24, 2023 (the “Stipulation”), and for approval of the Plan of Allocation.<sup>1</sup> This motion is 7 unopposed by Defendants.<sup>2</sup>

8 The Settlement provides for payment by or on behalf of Defendants of $107,500,000 for the 9 benefit of the Settlement Class.<sup>3</sup> This substantial Settlement is the culmination of vigorous litigation
10 by the Class Representatives and Defendants (the “Parties”) for almost five years, and is the product
11 of extensive arm’s-length negotiations between the Parties with the assistance of the Hon. Layn 12 Phillips (U.S.D.J., ret.) of Phillips ADR (“the Mediator”), one of the nation’s most well-respected 13 and effective mediators of securities class actions. The Settlement resolves all claims against 14 Defendants asserted, or which could have been asserted, in this Action and the Federal Action. Class 15 Counsel believe that the Settlement represents a highly favorable result for the Settlement Class and 16 warrants this Court’s approval.

19 <sup>1</sup> Unless otherwise defined herein, capitalized terms have the meanings ascribed to them as in 20 the Stipulation or in the Joint Declaration of Amanda F. Lawrence, Mark C. Molumphy, and James 21 I. Jaconette in Support of Motions for (1) Final Approval of Class Action Settlement and Plan of Allocation and (2) Award of Attorneys’ Fees, Payment of Litigation Expenses, and Service Awards (“Joint Declaration”), filed concurrently herewith.

22 <sup>2</sup> However, consistent with the Stipulation, ¶7.2, Defendants take no position on the portion of this motion pertaining to approval of the Plan of Allocation.

23 <sup>3</sup> The preliminarily approved Settlement Class includes all persons and entities who purchased 24 or acquired ADSs or ADRs of Micro Focus International plc, or rights to receive such ADSs or ADRs 25 (i) during the period from September 1, 2017 through August 28, 2019 inclusive, or (ii) pursuant or 26 traceable to the Registration Statements on Forms F-4 and F-6 and Prospectus issued in connection 27 with the merger of Micro Focus and the software business unit of HPE (or their subsidiaries), and 28 who were damaged thereby. Excluded from the Settlement Class are Defendants, officers and directors of Micro Focus, officers and directors of HPE, members of their immediate families, legal representatives, heirs, successor or assigns, and any entity in which they have or had a controlling interest.

1 The proposed Settlement is presumptively fair because it was reached through arm’s-length
2 bargaining and Class Counsel’s investigation and prosecution of this case assured that Class 3 Representatives entered into the Settlement on a fully informed basis. Further, Class Counsel are 4 experienced in securities class action litigation and there has been just one objection to the proposed 5 Settlement to date.

6 Moreover, there is nothing to rebut the presumption of fairness. While Class Representatives 7 and Class Counsel believe that the litigation has substantial merit and they would have prevailed at 8 summary judgment and trial, they considered the numerous risks raised by the arguments Defendants 9 made during the case and in settlement negotiations, as well as the risks in establishing liability and 10 damages at trial. All Defendants have denied, and continue to deny, any wrongdoing or violation of 11 any law. At trial, the jury could have sided with Defendants on some or all of the determinative 12 issues, leaving the Settlement Class with little or no recovery. Further, should Class Representatives 13 succeed at trial, in light of the history of the Action – including Defendants’ multiple appeals to the 14 California Supreme Court – it was highly likely that Defendants would pursue yet another appeal, 15 only further delaying, and possibly imperiling, payment to the Settlement Class.

16 Class Counsel, who are experienced in prosecuting shareholder class actions, have concluded 17 that the Settlement is highly favorable to and in the best interest of the Settlement Class. This 18 conclusion is based on, among other things, weighing the substantial recovery obtained against the 19 risks, expense, and delay presented in continued litigation through trial and appeal; an evaluation of 20 the evidence developed through extensive discovery; experience in litigating complex actions similar 21 to this Action; and the nature of the disputes among the Parties on both merits and damages issues.

22 For these and other reasons set forth below, as well as those set forth in the accompanying 23 Joint Declaration,<sup>4</sup> Class Representatives respectfully request that the Court grant final approval to
25
26

27 <sup>4</sup> The Joint Declaration details Class Representatives’ claims, the procedural history of the 28 litigation, the efforts of Class Counsel in prosecuting this case, the risks of continued litigation, and the reasons why the proposed Settlement is in the best interests of the Class.

1 the proposed Settlement and approve the Plan of Allocation as fair, reasonable, and adequate to 2 Settlement Class Members.<sup>5</sup>

3 II. THE SETTLEMENT IS FAIR, ADEQUATE, AND REASONABLE AND MERITS
4 FINAL APPROVAL

5 A. The Standards Governing Final Approval of Class Action Settlements

6 When considering a motion for final approval of a class action settlement, a court’s inquiry is 7 typically limited to determining whether the settlement is “fair, adequate, and reasonable.” Dunk v.
8 Ford Motor Co., 48 Cal. App. 4th 1794, 1801 (1996) (“[t]he inquiry ‘must be limited to the extent 9 necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching 10 by, or collusion between, the negotiating parties’”).<sup>6</sup> A settlement satisfies that criteria when “the 11 interests of the class as a whole are better served if the litigation is resolved by the settlement rather 12 than pursued.” See MANUEL FOR COMPLEX LITIGATION (THIRD) §30.42 (1995); see also Nat. Gas
13 Anti-Trust Cases I, II, III & IV, 2006 WL 5377849, at *1 (San Diego Super. Ct. Dec. 11, 2006). This 14 standard focuses on a comparison of the benefits of settlement versus the risks and costs of continued
15 litigation. See N. Cnty. Contractor’s Ass’n v. Touchstone Ins. Servs., 27 Cal. App. 4th 1085, 1091
16 (1994). Longstanding public policy also heavily favors settlements, particularly of class actions. See, 17 e.g., Hamilton v. Oakland Sch. Dist. of Alameda Cnty., 219 Cal. 322, 329 (1933); Bell v. Am. Title
18 Ins. Co., 226 Cal. App. 3d 1589, 1608 (1991).

19 Based on these considerations, a “presumption of fairness exists where: (1) the settlement is 20 reached through arm’s-length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow 21 counsel and the court to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the 22 percentage of objectors is small.” Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1802; see also Cellphone Fee 23 Termination Cases, 186 Cal. App. 4th 1380, 1389 (2010) (same). Also relevant to establishing 24 _____

25 <sup>5</sup> This memorandum focuses primarily on the legal standards for approving the proposed 26 Settlement and the Plan of Allocation. A separate memorandum is submitted herewith in support of 27 the motion for an award of attorneys’ fees and expenses and service awards to the Class 28 Representatives and the Federal Plaintiff. For a complete factual recitation, Settlement Class Counsel respectfully refer the Court to the Joint Declaration, incorporated by reference herein.

1 fairness are: (1) the settlement amount; (2) the risks, complexity, expense, and likely duration of 2 continued litigation; (3) the stage of proceedings; and (4) the views of class counsel and class
3 members. Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1801 (citing Officers for Just. v. Civil Serv. Comm'n of City &
4 Cnty. of S.F., 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982)); see also Cellphone, 186 Cal. App. 4th at 1389.<sup>7</sup>

5 B. The Settlement Is Presumptively Fair

6 As further detailed herein and in the Joint Declaration, the Settlement is presumptively fair 7 for several distinct reasons.

8 First, the Settlement resulted from arm's-length negotiations under the guidance of a mediator 9 highly experienced in securities class actions, the Hon. Layn Phillips. The Mediator assisted the 10 Parties in reaching the Settlement following the exchange of detailed mediation briefs (and exhibits), 11 two all-day mediation sessions, and extensive follow-up discussions over six months. Joint 12 Declaration, ¶¶66-69. Based on the Mediator's assessment of the Parties' positions and evidence, the 13 Mediator extended a settlement proposal to the Parties; after extensive deliberations, the Parties 14 ultimately accepted that proposal and worked to prepare the Stipulation and Plan of Allocation.

15 Second, the Settlement was informed by Class Counsel's extensive pre-trial investigation, fact 16 discovery, and litigation efforts, which ensured that Class Representatives and Class Counsel had a 17 thorough understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of the claims at the time of Settlement. This 18 included, among other things:

- 19 (a) working with in-house and external investigations to investigate the events underlying 20 the Merger, develop an understanding of the issues, identify potential witnesses and 21 additional sources of information, and cultivate further support for the allegations and 22 claims outside of formal discovery;
- 23 (b) reviewing and analyzing the registration statements and prospectus (the "Offering 24 Documents") issued in connection with the Merger, as well as other materials issued 25 by Micro Focus and HPE;
- 26

27 _____
28 <sup>7</sup> California courts also look to the standards articulated in federal courts for assessing class action settlements. See La Sala v. Am. Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 5 Cal. 3d 864, 872 (1971).

- 1 (c) reviewing and analyzing industry reports, securities analyst reports, news reports, 2 press releases, and other public and non-public materials concerning the Merger;
- 3 (d) researching and formulating the allegations and claims in order to draft well-supported 4 and detailed complaints capable of withstanding dismissal;
- 5 (e) briefing, arguing, and eventually prevailing on multiple attempts to dismiss or stay this 6 Action, including two appeals to the California Supreme Court;
- 7 (f) evaluating, researching, and briefing issues related to the initial proposed settlement
8 of the Federal Action that threatened to impact the prosecution of the claims asserted 9 in this Action;
- 10 (g) engaging and consulting experts on damages and the IT industry, as well as unique 11 aspects of multi-jurisdictional class-action litigation, to navigate discovery and other 12 proceedings;
- 13 (h) responding to discovery requests, reviewing and producing documents, and defending 14 then-proposed Class Representatives Green and August Cardella, Trustee of the 15 Cardella Family Trust, at their respective depositions;
- 16 (i) briefing, arguing, and achieving class certification and overseeing the process 17 associated with providing notice to the Certified Class;
- 18 (j) issuing several rounds of discovery requests, including document requests, form and 19 special interrogatories, requests for admission, and third-party subpoenas, conducting 20 numerous meet-and-confer calls with Defendants and non-parties, preparing search 21 terms and identifying custodians, reviewing and analyzing Defendants' privilege log 22 and conferring on supplemental productions, and briefing and presenting discovery-23 related motions where necessary;
- 24 (k) obtaining, organizing, and reviewing over 3.1 million pages of documents produced 25 by Defendants and non-parties;
- 26 (l) preparing for and conducting 21 depositions of fact witnesses, including certain of the 27 Defendants and non-party witnesses, in-person and remotely;
- 28

- 1 (m) preparing for expert discovery and reviewing and analyzing significant amounts of 2 testimonial and documentary evidence in anticipation of then-forthcoming summary 3 judgment proceedings and, ultimately, trial; and
- 4 (n) preparing for and participating in two full-day mediation sessions, consulting with an 5 expert on damages and causation, drafting two mediation statements, identifying and 6 selecting supporting exhibits culled from discovery to support Class Representatives’ 7 position, and participating in discussions with the Mediator.

8 Joint Declaration, ¶98.

9 Third, as set forth in the accompanying Class Counsel Declarations<sup>8</sup> (Robbins Geller 10 Declaration, Ex. G; Cotchett Pitre Declaration, Ex. G; Scott+Scott Declaration, Ex. G), Class Counsel 11 have recognized expertise in securities class-action litigation and have achieved many successful 12 recoveries on behalf of investors and other claimants. Based on their experience, Class Counsel 13 believe that the recovery here is highly favorable to the Settlement Class – particularly in light of the 14 recoverable damages, the substantial risks of continued litigation, and the strengths and weaknesses 15 of the case. That judgment is entitled to great weight. Dunk, 48 Cal. App. 4th at 1801; see also 16 O’Brien v. Brain Rsch. Labs, LLC, 2012 WL 3242365, at *12 (D.N.J. Aug. 9, 2012).

17 Finally, the reaction of the Settlement Class supports the presumption of fairness. Pursuant 18 to the February 7, 2023 Order Preliminarily Approving Settlement and Providing for Notice, the Court
19 authorized Epiq Class Action & Claims Solutions, Inc. to serve as claims administrator and ordered 20 notice to the Settlement Class. More than 311,000 copies of the Notice of Proposed Settlement of 21 Class Action (“Settlement Notice”) and Proof of Claim and Release form (collectively, the “Claim 22 Package”) were sent to potential Settlement Class Members and their nominees. See Declaration of 23

Attorneys’ Fees and Expenses (“Scott+Scott Declaration”), attached as Ex. 6 to the Joint Declaration.

1 Alexander P. Villanova Regarding Notice Dissemination, Publication, and Requests for Exclusion
2 Received to Date, ¶11, submitted herewith as Exhibit 1 to the Joint Declaration. The Settlement 3 Notice described the nature of the litigation, the terms of the Settlement, and the manner in which the 4 Net Settlement Fund will be allocated among Settlement Class Members. The Settlement Notice also 5 advised Settlement Class Members of their right to object and the procedures and deadline for 6 objecting to the proposed Settlement, the Plan of Allocation, and Class Counsel’s request for an award 7 of attorneys’ fees and expenses and Class Representatives’ request for service awards. In addition, 8 the Summary Notice was published in national edition of The Wall Street Journal and transmitted 9 over Business Wire on March 10 and May 18, 2023, respectively. Id., ¶12. The Settlement Notice, 10 Stipulation, and other relevant documents and information, including all deadlines, have been made 11 publicly available on a case-dedicated website for the Settlement, 12 www.MicroFocusClassAction.com. Id., ¶13.

13 Although Settlement Class Members have until June 30, 2023 to object or exclude themselves 14 from the Settlement Class, Class Counsel are aware of just one objection. Joint Declaration, ¶123.
15 The near total lack of objections by the Class to date supports a presumption of fairness. See 7-Eleven 16 Owners for Fair Franchising v. Southland Corp., 85 Cal. App. 4th 1135, 1153 (2000) (one factor that 17 “lead[s] to a presumption the settlement was fair” is that only “a small percentage of objectors” came 18 forward); see also Nat’l Rural Telecomms. Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 529 (C.D. Cal.
19 2004) (small number of objections raises strong presumption that settlement is fair). Additionally, 20 that just 52 requests for exclusion from the Settlement Class (out of the 311,967 Settlement Notices 21 mailed to potential Settlement Class Members) have been received further supports a presumption of 22 fairness. See Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 43, 53 (2008) (presumption of fairness not 23 overcome where “1,234 members (0.2 percent of the class) opted out” of settlement class of “[n]early 24 700,000 class members”); Knapp v. Art.com, Inc., 283 F. Supp. 3d 823, 828, 834 (N.D. Cal. 2017) 25 (presumption of fairness not overcome where “[o]f the nearly 2 million member class, 452 opted out 26 of the settlement,” which “amount[ed] to less than .03 percent of the class”).

1           C.     The Settlement Readily Satisfies the Additional Dunk Factors

2                   1.       The Amount of the Settlement Favors Approval

3           The proposed Settlement provides for a cash payment of $107.5 million for the benefit of the 4 Settlement Class, and there is no right of reversion should the proposed Settlement become final.
5 This recovery is well above the range of court-approved settlements in recent years in securities class
6 actions. See Laarni T. Bulan & Laura E. Simmons, Securities Class Action Settlements 2022 Review
8 Securities-Class-Action-Settlements-2022-Review-and-Analysis.pdf (listing $13 million and $36.2 9 million as the median and average securities settlement in 2022, respectively). That Defendants 10 asserted that recoverable damages, if any, were dramatically lower, further supports a presumption of 11 fairness here. Joint Declaration, ¶¶82-86.

12           The proposed Settlement is also unquestionably better than another distinct possibility – little 13 or no recovery for the Settlement Class. Indeed, the risk of no recovery for the class in complex cases 14 of this type is very real. In numerous hard-fought lawsuits, plaintiffs and the class ultimately received 15 no recovery – despite years of work and interim success – due to the discovery of facts unknown 16 when the case started, changes in the law while the case was pending, or a decision of a judge, jury, 17 or court of appeals after a full trial. See, e.g., In re Oracle Corp. Sec. Litig., 2009 WL 1709050 (N.D.
18 Cal. June 19, 2009), aff'd, 627 F.3d 376 (9th Cir. 2010) (granting summary judgment to defendants 19 after eight years of litigation); In re JDS Uniphase Corp. Sec. Litig., 2007 WL 4788556 (N.D. Cal.
20 Nov. 27, 2007) (defense verdict by jury); Anixter v. Home-Stake Prod. Co., 77 F.3d 1215, 1235 (10th 21 Cir. 1996) (overturning securities-fraud class-action jury verdict for plaintiffs in case filed in 1973 22 and tried in 1988 following a 1994 Supreme Court opinion).

23           Accordingly, this factor militates in favor of the Court granting final approval.

24                   2.       The Substantial Risks of Continued Litigation

25           While Class Representatives believe their claims are strong on the merits, the case involves 26 substantial risks in establishing liability and negative causation, as well as procedural risks.

1 a. Risks in Establishing Liability

2 Class Representatives alleged that the Offering Documents materially misrepresented and 3 obscured problems that were undermining Micro Focus' and HPE's business prospects at the time of 4 the Merger, including compatibility issues, sales force hurdles including massive employee attrition, 5 and a loss of customers. In addition, Class Representatives alleged HPE's products were falling 6 behind competitors and customers were failing to upgrade or to buy new products. See Joint 7 Declaration, ¶¶17-22.

8 Defendants, however, denied that Class Representatives could prove that any of the 9 challenged statements were materially untrue or misleading – or even actionable – or that there were 10 any material omissions. Moreover, Defendants contended that all alleged risks were well known to 11 the market or adequately described in risk warnings. Id., ¶¶39, 45, 80. Nor does this case involve an 12 internal investigation by Micro Focus or an investigation by the SEC or enforcement action by any 13 other governmental agency. Id., ¶80. Though these factors are not required for a successful securities 14 action, their absence would have certainly been used by Defendants to bolster their claim that they 15 did not fail to disclose material information.

16 While Class Representatives and Class Counsel have substantial responses to Defendants' 17 arguments, victory was by no means assured, and the uncertainty of establishing liability weighs 18 strongly in favor of approving the Settlement. See Bellows v. NCO Fin. Sys., Inc., 2008 WL 5458986, 19 at *7 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 10, 2008) (“[W]hile Class Counsel believe strongly in the merit of the class 20 claims, they also recognize that any case encompasses risks and that settlement of contested cases is 21 preferred in this circuit. Indeed, even if Plaintiff were to prevail at trial, risks to the class remain.”); 22 In re Heritage Bond Litig., 2005 WL 1594403, at *7 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) (“Also favoring 23 approval of the Settlement is the knowledge that, while Plaintiffs are confident of the strength of their 24 case, it is imprudent to presume ultimate success at trial and thereafter.”).

25 b. Risks Related to Loss Causation and Damages

26 Although Class Representatives were confident that they could establish damages assuming a 27 finding of liability, they faced a risk that the Court or jury would substantially reduce or even 28 eliminate damages. Under §11(e) of the Securities Act of 1933, 15 U.S.C. §77k(e), a defendant can

1 reduce or eliminate damages through a showing that the false or misleading statements or omissions 2 alleged were not the cause, in whole or in part, of the loss sustained by the class.

3 Defendants would doubtless contend, for example, that the losses sustained by the Settlement
4 Class were attributable not to any misrepresentation but rather to unforeseen market-wide events
5 affecting Micro Focus ADSs and that the ADSs' trading price decline was in line with overall market
6 conditions and the disclosure of adverse yet unforeseen business developments. Joint Declaration, 7 ¶¶82-86. Thus, even if Class Representatives proved that Micro Focus made misstatements and/or 8 omissions, Defendants would have argued that no portion of the drop was attributable to those 9 statements or omissions. Id.

10 As a result, the Parties' respective experts would have offered sharply divergent testimony 11 concerning damages at summary judgment and trial, reducing the determination of this element to a 12 "battle of the experts." See In re Tyco Int'l, Ltd. Multidistrict Litig., 535 F. Supp. 2d 249, 260-61
13 (D.N.H. 2007) (fact that "trial would likely involve a confusing 'battle of the experts' over damages" 14 supported approval of settlement). There was a substantial risk that the finder of fact would credit 15 Defendants' contentions that damages were not linked to any misstatements or that damages were a 16 fraction of the amount sought. See In re Warner Commc'ns Sec. Litig., 618 F. Supp. 735, 744-45
17 (S.D.N.Y. 1985) (approving settlement where "it is virtually impossible to predict with any certainty 18 which testimony would be credited, and ultimately, which damages would be found to have been 19 caused by actionable, rather than the myriad nonactionable factors such as general market 20 conditions"), aff'd, 798 F.2d 35 (2d Cir. 1986).

21 Even if Class Representatives were to obtain all of their damages, the risks would not end 22 there. See In re Mfrs. Life Ins. Co. Premium Litig., 1998 WL 1993385, at *5 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 21, 23 1998) ("[E]ven if it is assumed that a successful outcome for plaintiffs at summary judgment or at 24 trial would yield a greater recovery than the Settlement – which is not at all apparent – there is easily 25 enough uncertainty in the mix to support settling the dispute rather than risking no recovery in future 26 proceedings."). There are numerous cases in which a successful verdict has been overturned either 27 by motion after trial or an appeal. In In re Apple Comput. Sec. Litig., 1991 WL 238298, at *1 (N.D.
28 Cal. Sept. 6, 1991), for example, the jury rendered a verdict for plaintiffs after an extended trial.

1 Based upon the jury’s findings, recoverable damages would have exceeded $100 million. The court, 2 however, overturned the verdict, entered judgment for the individual defendants, and ordered a new 3 trial with respect to the corporate defendant. See, e.g., Glickenhau & Co. v. Household Int’l, Inc., 4 787 F.3d 408, 433 (7th Cir. 2015) (reversing and remanding jury verdict of $2.46 billion after 13 5 years of litigation on loss causation grounds and error in jury instruction); In re BankAtlantic Bancorp, 6 Inc., 2011 WL 1585605, at *20 (S.D. Fla. Apr. 25, 2011) (after plaintiffs’ jury verdict, court granted 7 defendants’ motion for judgment as a matter of law and entered judgment for defendants), aff’d, 688
8 F.3d 713 (11th Cir. 2012) (finding trial court erred, but defendants nevertheless entitled to judgment 9 as a matter of law based on lack of loss causation). Therefore, litigation risks on liability and damages 10 support approval of the Settlement.

11 c. Risks Related to Summary Judgment and Trial

12 At the time the Parties informed the Court that they had reached a settlement in principle, key 13 deadlines in the Action were fast approaching, including summary judgment motions (December 19, 14 2022), initial expert disclosures (December 20, 2022), and supplementary expert witness disclosures 15 (December 27, 2022), as well as trial, which was scheduled to begin on April 13, 2023. Joint 16 Declaration, ¶87. Each of these phases presented risks, including that the finder of fact would agree 17 with Defendants and that recoverable damages would be substantially lower than the Settlement 18 Amount – or even zero.

19 3. The Stage of Proceedings and Available Evidence Gave the Parties Sufficient 20 Information to Negotiate an Adequate and Reasonable Settlement

21 The third Dunk factor focuses on whether the parties had sufficient information to conduct an 22 informed negotiation for a settlement that adequately reflects the merits of the case. When applying 23 this factor:

24 The question is not whether the parties have completed a particular amount of 25 discovery, but whether the parties have obtained sufficient information about the 26 strengths and weaknesses of their respective cases to make a reasoned judgment about the desirability of settling the case on the terms proposed or continuing to litigate it.

27 In re OCA, Inc. Sec. & Derivative Litig., 2009 WL 512081, at *12 (E.D. La. Mar. 2, 2009). Moreover, 28 the trial court “may legitimately presume that counsel’s judgment [that it has the information

1 necessary to evaluate a settlement] is reliable.” In re Corrugated Container Antitrust Litig., 643 F.2d 2 195, 211 (5th Cir. 1981).

3 As detailed above, when the Parties reached the proposed Settlement, Class Counsel had 4 sufficiently investigated and researched the merits of their claims and Defendants’ potential defenses
5 to determine that the terms of the Settlement were fair, reasonable, and adequate and in the best 6 interests of the Settlement Class. Class Counsel developed this understanding after almost five years 7 of litigation, during which time they examined the discovery developed, consulted with experts, and 8 worked with the Mediator. These efforts allowed Class Counsel to thoroughly appreciate the 9 strengths and weaknesses of the Parties’ positions, which were fully explored and debated. Joint 10 Decl., ¶¶26-69.

11 4. Balancing the Certainty of an Immediate Recovery Against the Expense and 12 Duration of Further Litigation, Trial, and Appeal Favors Settlement

13 “[T]he complexity, expense and likely duration of the litigation absent settlement” is another 14 factor to consider in determining whether the proposed Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable.
15 Nat. Gas, 2006 WL 5377849, at *2; see also Officers for Just., 688 F.2d at 626. “[T]he more 16 complex, expensive, and time consuming the future litigation, the more beneficial settlement becomes 17 as a matter of efficiency to the parties and to the Court.” In re Citigroup Inc. Bond Litig., 296 F.R.D.
18 147, 155 (S.D.N.Y. 2013).

19 “[S]ecurities actions are highly complex,” and “securities class litigation is notably difficult 20 and notoriously uncertain.” Hefler v. Wells Fargo & Co., 2018 WL 6619983, at *13 (N.D. Cal. Dec.
21 18, 2018), aff’d sub. nom. Hefler v. Pekoc, 802 F. App’x 285 (9th Cir. 2020); accord La. Mun. Police 22 Emps. Ret. Sys. v. Sealed Air Corp., 2009 WL 4730185, at *8 (D.N.J. Dec. 4, 2009) (“securities class
23 actions are inherently complex”); In re AOL Time Warner, Inc. Sec. & “ERISA” Litig., 2006 WL
24 903236, at *8 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 6, 2006) (same). Such actions are also “expensive to prosecute.” In re 25 Gilat Satellite Networks, Ltd., 2007 WL 1191048, at *10 (E.D.N.Y. Apr. 19, 2007). This case was 26 no exception. Prosecution required a thorough understanding of the information technology and 27 software industries, as well as securities and class action law. Had the case continued, extensive and 28 costly expert reports and testimony would have been necessary at the summary judgment and trial

1 stages – notwithstanding that continued litigation would not have guaranteed a greater degree of 2 success.

3 In contrast to the risks posed by further litigation and potential appeals, approval of the 4 Settlement will mean a significant and prompt recovery for Settlement Class Members. See In re
5 Broadwing, Inc. ERISA Litig., 252 F.R.D. 369, 373-74 (S.D. Ohio 2006) (explaining “the difficulty
6 Plaintiff[] would encounter in proving [its] claims, the substantial litigation expenses, and a possible 7 delay in recovery due to the appellate process, provide justifications for this Court’s approval of the 8 proposed Settlement”).

9 As the Ninth Circuit has made clear, the very essence of a settlement agreement is 10 compromise, ““a yielding of absolutes and an abandoning of highest hopes.”” Officers for Just., 688 11 F.2d at 624. “““Naturally, the agreement reached normally embodies a compromise; in exchange for 12 the saving of cost and elimination of risk, the parties each give up something they might have won 13 had they proceeded with litigation . . . .”” Id.; see also Ellis v. Naval Air Rework Facility, 87 F.R.D.
14 15, 19 (N.D. Cal. 1980) (“[a]s a quid pro quo for not having to undergo the uncertainties and expenses 15 of litigation, the plaintiffs must be willing to moderate the measure of their demands”), aff’d, 661 16 F.2d 939 (9th Cir. 1981). The Settlement provides an immediate and substantial recovery for 17 Settlement Class Members, whereas continued litigation would entail considerable delay and cost 18 without any certainty of a better result.

19 5. The Recommendations of Experienced Counsel Heavily Favor Approval of 20 the Settlement

21 The opinion of experienced counsel is entitled to considerable weight. See Dunk, 48 Cal. App.
22 4th at 1801 (among the factors to be considered is “the experience and views of counsel”); see also 23 O’Brien, 2012 WL 3242365, at *12 (“The opinion of experienced counsel, based upon their 24 familiarity with the facts and law and understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of their 25 positions, is entitled to considerable weight and favors finding that the settlement is fair.”). Here, 26 Class Counsel, who are experienced class action securities litigators, believe that for all of the reasons 27 discussed above, the Settlement represents an excellent result for the Class. Joint Declaration, ¶103.
28 That strongly supports the fairness and reasonableness of the Settlement.

1                   6.       The Reaction of the Settlement Class

2           The reaction of the Settlement Class also supports final approval of Settlement. To date, out
3 of the over 311,000 Settlement Notices mailed to potential Settlement Class Members, Class Counsel 4 are aware of just a single objection to any aspect of the proposed Settlement and just 52 requests for 5 exclusion from the Settlement Class.<sup>9</sup> Joint Declaration, ¶123. Thus, the Settlement Class 6 resoundingly supports the proposed Settlement, which weighs heavily in favor of establishing its 7 fairness.

8           In sum, each of the above factors fully supports a finding that the proposed Settlement is fair, 9 reasonable, and adequate. Accordingly, Class Representatives respectfully request that the Court 10 approve the proposed Settlement.<sup>10</sup>

11 III. THE PLAN OF ALLOCATION IS FAIR AND REASONABLE AND SHOULD BE 12 APPROVED

13           Assessment of a plan of allocation is governed by the same standards of review applicable to 14 a settlement as a whole: the plan must be fair, reasonable, and adequate. Class Plaintiffs v. City of 15 Seattle, 955 F.2d 1268, 1284 (9th Cir. 1992). An allocation formula need only have a reasonable, 16 rational basis, particularly if recommended by “experienced and competent” plaintiffs’ counsel.
17 White v. Nat’l Football League, 822 F. Supp. 1389, 1420-24 (D. Minn. 1993), aff’d, 41 F.3d 402 (8th 18 Cir. 1994); In re Am. Bank Note Holographics, Inc. Sec. Litig., 127 F. Supp. 2d 418, 429-30 (S.D.N.Y.
19 2001). Courts have approved plans of allocation in other securities cases similar to the one here. See,
20 e.g., Judgment, In re LendingClub Sec. Litig., No. 3:16-cv-02627 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 24, 2018), ECF
21 No. 401 (granting final approval in action with plan of allocation encompassing authorized claimants 22 with Securities Act and Exchange Act losses); see also In re Datatec Sys., Inc. Sec. Litig., 2007 WL

23
24 <sup>9</sup>       Class Counsel will respond to all objections in the reply papers and will produce a full tally 25 of objections and exclusions received.

26 <sup>10</sup>       Additionally, as noted in the Joint Declaration (¶12), Federal Plaintiff Iron Workers’ Local 27 No. 25 Pension Fund also fully supports approval of the proposed Settlement. See also Declaration 28 of Richard Sawhill, Chairman of Iron Workers’ Local No. 25 Pension Fund, in Support of Class
Representatives’ Motion for Final Approval of Settlement, Plan of Allocation, Class Counsel’s Fees, Payment of Litigation Expenses, and Class Representatives Service Awards, ¶6.

1 4225828, at *5 (D.N.J. Nov. 28, 2007) (“plans that allocate money depending on the timing of 2 purchases and sales of the securities at issue are common”).

3 Here, the proposed Plan of Allocation was developed by Class Representatives’ damages 4 expert, Bjorn I. Steinholt, and is similar to the plans approved in other securities cases. The Plan of 5 Allocation allocates $100 million and $7.5 million for Securities Act and Exchange Act Authorized 6 Claimants, respectively. Authorized Claimants eligible for a pro rata distribution under the Securities 7 Act will receive a share calculated utilizing the Securities Act’s statutory damages formula.
8 Authorized Claimants eligible for a pro rata distribution under the Exchange Act will receive a share 9 calculated utilizing a recognized loss formula, which deducts any Securities Act losses an Authorized 10 Claimant may also have. All pro rata allocations will be based on the theories of the case, Settlement 11 Class Members’ recognized losses, and will be applied in the same manner to all Settlement Class
12 Members and will result in equitable distribution of the proceeds among Settlement Class Members 13 who submit valid claims. Joint Declaration, ¶92. As a result, Class Representatives respectfully 14 submit that the Plan of Allocation is a fair and reasonable method for allocating the Net Settlement 15 Fund among the Members of the Settlement Class.

16 IV. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT FINAL CERTIFICATION OF THE SETTLEMENT
17 CLASS

18 As, set forth in the Memorandum of Law in Support of Plaintiffs’ Unopposed Motion for 19 Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement at 8, and as the Court determined in preliminarily 20 approving the Settlement, the requirements of California Code of Civil Procedure §382 are readily 21 satisfied here.<sup>11</sup> Nothing has occurred that would alter the Court’s conclusion since then. Therefore, 22 for the same reasons that the Court preliminarily certified the Class, it should finally certify the Class 23 for settlement purposes.

26 _____
27 <sup>11</sup> As noted above (§II.B) and in the Joint Declaration (¶57), the Court previously granted class 28 certification. See also Order Granting Class Certification, dated November 19, 2021, at 2-3. Solely for the purposes of this Settlement, the Parties stipulated (Stipulation, ¶2.1) to a Settlement Class encompassing Members of the previously Certified Class and investors with Exchange Act claims.

1 V. CONCLUSION

2 The Settlement is an excellent result, and for the foregoing reasons, Class Representatives
3 respectfully request that the Court grant final approval to the proposed Settlement, approve the Plan 4 of Allocation, and enter the proposed Order and Final Judgment.
